FALCONS FACE STIFF HOMECOMING CHALLENGE

Bowling Green State University's football forces have always done well in homecoming encounters but Kent State University's Golden Flashes figure to give the Falcons a real test in today's contest.

In homecoming games, Bowling Green sports a fine 26-9-9 record and the Falcons have won seven straight games before the returning alums. Kent State stopped the Bowling Green 11 by an 8-7 score in 1958 for the only homecoming loss that Doyt Perry suffered when he was coaching.

Under Bob Gibson, the Falcons got off on the right foot last year as they stopped Toledo 21-14. In the last 11 homecoming battles, Bowling Green has scored 296 points while giving up only 89 to its opponents. The Falcons have won four of these games by the shutout route.

Kent State is Bowling Green's oldest rival so this fact should make today's game an even more bitter battle. The two teams have met 34 times and the Falcons hold a 19-9-6 edge in the series.

After the 1958 defeat, the Falcons have gone on to win seven straight games while giving the Flashes only 29 points. In those seven games, the Falcons have scored 185 points while holding Kent scoreless twice. In the last 11 games, Kent State hasn't been able to score any more than eight points against BG's defense.

Several of Bowling Green's fine defensive players including Jamie Rivers, Tom Luettkke, Henry Orr, Dave Seiter, Joe Siesel, Dennis Zolciak, Mike Weger, Dick Wagoner, Charles Burley, Jim Porowski and Joe Souliere would like nothing better than to hold the Flashes under eight points again today.

Kent picked up the first touchdown last year in BG's narrow 7-6 win but Bowling Green came back with a touchdown and an extra point in the second period to take the victory. Luettkke plunged in from the three-yard line with just 57 seconds left in the first half. Jim Perry then booted the point and the Falcons had a 7-6 victory.

With the exception of Luettkke, Kent will see almost the same backfield that the Falcons won with last season. Stew Williams, a two-time All Mid-American Conference selection, is back at fullback and has gotten off to a fine start with the 1966 team. In three games, he has rushed for 325 yards and a 4.3 average.

Halfbacks Mike Weger and Dave Cranmer have come up with 346 yards between them so Bowling Green is capable of moving the ball on the ground. In the passing department, quarterback Russ Jacques has completed 15 of 33 passes for 178 yards.

Split end Eddie Jones has grabbed 10 aerials for 154 yards. Weger and Williams lead the Falcons scoring parade with 12 points while Jacques, Dick Waring and Heath Wingate have all accounted for six points.

DEFENSIVE PLATOON HELPS KENT SQUAD

Defense is the name of the game this season with most of Kent State University's 1966 hopes riding on the shoulders of a big, mobile front wall and a quick secondary.

Last season, the Flashes gave up only 11.4 points a game and Kent's Coach Leo Strang figures the defense should be even better this season. After the first four games of the 1966 campaign, Kent's defense wasn't better but it was almost as good as the Flashes have given up only 11.5 points a contest.

"The defense gave up yardage and allowed the opponents to maintain control of the ball, even if they didn't score too much last year. We hope to overcome that this year. We certainly have the personnel to do it," Strang stated.

Buffalo ripped the Flashes defense for 27 points in the first contest but since that encounter, Kent has been playing the type of defense Strang thinks his team is capable of doing.

Northern Illinois came up with only seven points as Kent rolled to a 26-7 victory before Ohio University scored only 12. Powerful Miami had to settle for a 7-0 victory.

It is interesting to note that Bowling Green gave up only an average of 11.9 points last year and the Falcons first three 1966 opponents produced only 36 points. These statistics could mean that today's fans could well see a tight, hard-fought defensive battle.

On the offensive side of things, the Flashes have been getting plenty of work from tailback Don Fitzgerald and fullback Joe Pledger. After Kent's first four contests, Fitzgerald had carried a total of 108 times for 467 yards and a 4.3 average.

This left him as one of the leading ground gainers in the nation. He is currently well within range of setting Kent's school records in the rushing department. He needed 571 yards in the final six games to set a new school mark of 1,038. That figures out to a little more than 95 yards a game.

He is also only 130 carries shy of a record 238 set last year by the great Willie Asbury. His present rate would give him 270 for the year.

Pledger hasn't done as well as Fitzgerald but he has gained 230 yards in 71 carries for a 3.2 average. Kent has totaled 814 yards rushing for the year and this duo has just under 700.

Fitzgerald and Pledger have both scored 18 points for the Kent team that racked up 49 points in its first two games but then came up with only 10 in its next two contests.

In their first four contests, the Golden Flashes have compiled a 1-4 mark and this leaves Strang's three-year record at 9-13-2. Strang, Kent's seventh head coach, authored the university's first winning team in five seasons last year when he guided the Flashes to a 5-4-1 record.

BOWLING GREEN STACKS UP THE NATION'S BEST RECORD

In the past 10 years, Bowling Green State University's football teams have compiled a 77-12-4 record to become "the winningest team in the nation" and BG's winning trend doesn't figure to come to a halt in 1966.

Bowling Green's 77-12-4 record in the last decade has enabled the Falcons to win more games than any other squad in the nation, except Mississippi, and compile the highest percentage.

Doyt Perry stacked up a 70-10-4 mark in nine years before moving up to serve as Bowling Green's Athletic Director. Bob Gibson kept the streak going in 1965 with a 7-2 record.

During those 10 years, Bowling Green has annexed six Mid-American Conference titles while finishing second two times and also ending up third twice. None of the teams lost more than two games during any season.

With a total of 21 lettermen back from last year's team that tied for first place in the Mid-American, Bowling Green is again hoping for another outstanding season.

The record builders: Bob Gibson and Doyt Perry

BOWLING GREEN NAMES EIGHT HALL OF FAMERS

Eight new members have been elected to Bowling Green State University's Athletic Hall of Fame.

Athletic Director Doyt L. Perry announced that Harold Anderson, Paul E. Landis, Carl Bachman, Earl Wittmer, James Inman, John Hartman, Donald Otten and Bernard Casey have been selected by the seven-man university-alumni committee.

Nominated from different eras in the University's 51-year intercollegiate history, the six graduates and two former coaches were formally inducted into the Hall of Fame at the athletic-physical education department breakfast this morning.

Anderson was head basketball coach and athletic director at BG from 1942 until his retirement in 1965. His cage teams appeared in six National Invitational tournaments and three NCAA tournaments while he was establishing one of the nation's top coaching records at 504-226. He developed 10 All-Americans, eight at Bowling Green and two at the University of Toledo where he served eight years as head basketball coach. He directed the university athletic program from a small Ohio Conference affiliate to a major college standout in the Mid-American Conference.

Landis served the university from 1925 to 1942 as head basketball, track and cross country coach and was an assistant in football for 14 years. His teams won four Northwestern Ohio Conference basketball championships and became a standout team in the Ohio Conference. He left the university to become state supervisor of health, physical education, recreation and safety and then became assistant commissioner of the Ohio High School Athletic Association in 1958. In 1963 he was appointed the commissioner.

Wittmer is recognized as one of the all-time BG baseball greats. He pitched twenty-seven consecutive innings of hitless ball including two no-hit games against Defiance and Ashland. He was captain of the 1922 baseball team that won Bowling Green's first intercollegiate championship. He was an end and halfback in football for four years. Wittmer is now a sanitary engineer in Columbus.

Bachman was a five-sport man at Bowling Green winning 13 varsity letters, gaining all-Northwestern Ohio Conference honors as an end in football and guard in basketball. He also excelled in baseball and tennis and was a member of the first BG track team in 1923. He holds the national record for points-after-touchdown by placement at 19, made in BG's 151-0 win over Findlay in 1921.

Bachman's Findlay High basketball team won the 1948 Class AA championship, one of five undefeated regular seasons in accumulating 477 victories. He was the first president of the Ohio Basketball Coaches Association. He is now director of athletics at Findlay High.

John Hartman was a three-sport man at Bowling Green but was recognized as one of the top track athletes in the Ohio Conference in 1935. He won three events in the 1935 Ohio Conference meet at Wooster with victories in 100 and 220-yard dashes and the 220-yard hurdles. He dominated the 220-yard dash honors for three years in the OC meet. He also lettered in football and basketball at BG besides being active in all musical organizations. He is now director of instrumental music for the Bryan city schools.

Inman was an all-Ohio Conference fullback at BG in 1935 and captain of the 1936 team. He also was a three-year letterman in basketball besides being president of the varsity BG club and one of the first members of Sigma Delta Psi Fraternity. He was BG's first graduate assistant in physical education. He coached at Perrysburg and Hillsdale, Michigan high schools and is now director of athletics and recreation in Hillsdale.

Otten was one of the first "big" men in the national basketball picture. From 1942-46, at 6-11½, he led the Falcon basketball team to three National Invitational tournaments. He gained all-American honors as he was chosen the most valuable player in the Chicago Invitational tournament over Bob Kurland and George Mikan as BG beat national champion Oklahoma State. He played 10 years of professional basketball in the Basketball Association of America and the NBA, being a member of Tri-City, Washington, Ft. Wayne, Baltimore and Milwaukee teams. He is now an industrial engineer in Lima.

Casey is the lone selection still active in athletics. He is in his sixth year as a flanker with the San Francisco 49ers. He was the number one draft choice in 1960, being the only Mid-American Conference football player ever gaining this honor. At BG, Bernie was not only a Little All-American, as the 1959 Falcon eleven claimed the national college division championship, but excelled as a hurdler. He won three MAC high hurdle championships and finished third in the 1960 NCAA and Olympic trials. He is now recognized as one of the nation's top young artists, having presented several shows in San Francisco and Bowling Green.

W. H. Davis (left), Alcoa's General Manager—Industrial Relations, says: "We've found that Army ROTC graduates with active duty experience as officers possess better than average initiative, foresight, and responsibility. These are qualities we rate very highly, and we gladly pay a premium to get them."

Why did Alcoa hire Rod Wilson?

Because Alcoa needs men to fill key positions—men capable of moving to the top; men who seek and measure up to responsibility. Rod Wilson is that kind of man. An Army ROTC Distinguished Military Graduate at Colorado State University, Rod won an officer's commission in the Regular Army along with his degree. Forty-four months of active duty, including 16 months overseas as an artillery commander, earned Rod Wilson 24-carat credentials as a leader, a man schooled in the demanding disciplines of command, the kind of man Alcoa looks for.

If you're this kind of man, prove it to yourself, and to the companies like Alcoa who are looking for you. How? Get in Army ROTC. Stay with Army ROTC, all the way to success.

BAND FOLLOWS "FUNNY BOOK FANTASY" THEME

Bowling Green State University's 1966 marching band, featuring 120 members, will center today's show around the homecoming theme "Funny Book Fantasy".

Bowling Green's band will march onto the field playing the theme from the movie "The Bridge on the River Kwai". From there, the band will play "Chicago" and move into a scales of justice formation and then play the theme from the "Untouchables".

The "Untouchables" number is linked to the homecoming theme due to the fact that this popular show appeared on television for a number of years and television shows often are based on fantasy.

The band will leave the scales formation playing "I'm an Old Cowhand". Under Mark Kelly's direction, the band will form a cowboy and play "Ragtime Cowboy Joe".

Here again, the fantasy theme enters the picture as kids often spend many hours playing Cowboys and Indians.

Bowling Green's homecoming crowd will then be treated to a tour of Disneyland as the band forms a steamboat and plays "Waiting for the Robert E. Lee".

This "band boat" will take the crowd for a tour just as the real steamboat at Disneyland enables thousands of visitors to see the great entertainment area that Disney built on the west coast.

From there, "We are off to see the Wizard" as the band takes us to the famous land of Oz. A choral group under the direction of Dr. Ivan Tressler will join the band in the number "Somewhere Over the Rainbow".

The band will then end its show with "Hi-Ho" and "Someday My Prince Will Come". The band will also play during this year's pre-game homecoming ceremonies, spelling out Hello, Alums and BGU before playing Bowling Green State University's Alma Mater.

Kelly stated that the band will also be scheduled to play after the game. On Oct. 29, Bowling Green's band will be playing at the Miami game before being joined on Nov. 5 and Nov. 12 by Marshall and Ohio University bands during home game appearances.

BOWLING GREEN RAPIDLY EXPANDS ITS ATHLETIC FACILITIES

Bowling Green State University is currently undergoing the largest expansion in its history and part of the extensive building program is providing the university with some of the best athletic facilities in Ohio.

As Bowling Green launches its 1966 home football schedule on Oct. 1, the Falcons will be playing in the biggest and newest stadium in the Mid-American Conference.

Following a Bowling Green tradition, the Falcons' new home has been named Doyt L. Perry Field, honoring the university's athletic director.

The stadium will provide seating for 23,272 fans and will contain the latest in facilities and accommodations.

STADIUM FACILITIES

On the east side of the stadium will be dressing facilities plus training and equipment areas to handle all of Bowling Green's outdoor sports. On the east mezzanine floor, the stadium will have 30 offices and meeting rooms.

Four handball courts plus locker rooms and showers along with storage areas have been planned for the west side. Six classrooms will be situated on the west mezzanine floor. The press box, also slated for the west side, will have facilities for 70 people and will include 10 radio booths and two television areas.

If, in the future, the stadium needs to be expanded, completing the oval will add 20,900 additional seats. An upper deck on the stadium would make possible another 16,000 seats. Bowling Green's stadium, at total capacity, will seat over 60,000 people.

ICE ARENA

In addition to the stadium, construction is progressing very rapidly on the indoor ice arena that will be completed this year. The ice arena, with planned seating for 4,000 fans, will include a figure skating area, a sheet for hockey and recreation as well as one for curling.

Health and physical education classes will use the arena which will also be available for intramural groups, the general student body and the public when not being used by students.

Bowling Green's athletic construction doesn't stop with the stadium and ice arena as the university is also currently building one of the finest outdoor tracks in the country.

The track, which will be adjacent to the southeast corner of the new stadium, will be the first of its kind in this area. The nine lane, quarter-mile oval was surfaced last summer with a non-skid, all-weather plastic material, developed by the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. At the current time, Robert H. Whittaker track is only one of three in the world surfaced with this material.

The work has been completed on Bowling Green's new baseball diamond that has a seating capacity of 2,500.

With the addition of the stadium, ice arena, track and baseball diamond, Bowling Green will have outstanding athletic facilities that also include a nine-hole golf course, and tennis courts. All these facilities are on the eastern part of campus, beyond Yount Road.

NETWORK AIRS BOWLING GREEN FOOTBALL

FALCON VOICE—WFOB's veteran broadcasting team of Gene Kinn and Dugan Fry, left and right, will handle the play-by-play on Bowling Green State University's five-station radio network this year.

For the second straight season, Bowling Green State University's football games will be aired by a five station radio network, station WFOB's vice president Mel Murray announced today.

WFOB, with facilities in both Bowling Green and Fostoria, will serve as the originating station for the network that also includes: WTOD, Toledo; WONW, Defiance; WBCO, Bucyrus, and WERT, Van Wert.

The network will give Bowling Green good radio coverage in northwestern Ohio. WFOB's veteran broadcasting team of Dugan Fry and Gene Kinn will handle the play-by-play for the network.

Fry and Kinn have done Bowling Green State University's football games for the past seven years and their coverage of BG's athletic events have taken them across the nation.

Fry worked at radio station WCLT, Newark, and WTTF, Tiffin, before coming to WFOB seven years ago. He is now the station's sports director. Kinn has been at WFOB for eight years and is currently program director.

Falcon home games will also be aired this season by WAWR, Bowling Green, and WBGU, the university's station.

Bowling Green opened its 1966 nine-game schedule on the road at the University of Tampa and WFOB was there. Fry and Kinn will also be on hand for the Falcons' final game at Temple University, in Philadelphia.

MEMORIES KEEP UNIVERSITY STADIUM "ALIVE"

University Stadium under construction in 1937

BY ANN CLARK
Publications Office

This fall, for the first time since 1914, the site of the old football field will not be used for athletics.

With construction of the new stadium, the old playing field will become a mall. Plans have been made for landscaping the old field while buildings will soon flank it.

From 1914 to 1922 the field served as an athletic practice field. The playing field was adjacent to the Ridge Street School after 1919, when Bowling Green first played intercollegiate football. In 1923 the old practice field was converted into the playing field, and bleachers were installed. The first game on the field was a disaster; Ohio Northern defeated Bowling Green 46-0.

The playing field was dedicated on Homecoming Day, November 10, 1923. According to the Bee Gee News, Vol. 5, No. 1:

... Following the parade there will be held the dedication of the new athletic field. The dedication address will be delivered by some important personage and will set apart a plot of ground which will be known as The College Field for all time to come.

At this hour, 2:30 p.m., the event of the day will take place when the Orange and Brown clash with Ashland. Coach R. B.

McCandless makes no rash promises as to the outcome of this battle but he promises that if fight and spirit can win, old Bee Gee is sure of a big victory.

The fight and spirit must have been there. Bowling Green defeated Ashland 10-0 on a touchdown by F. Gus Skibbie, Bowling Green's Mayor, plus a point after and field goal by Solon Hearick. The next issue of the Bee Gee News stated, "It was the most sensational game of football ever played on a local gridiron."

In 1937, a $44,300 stadium was built, and another dedication ceremony held. President Emeritus Homer B. Williams discussed the cost, capacity, and construction of the PWA project and then introduced Dr. Frank J. Prout, President of the Board of Trustees, who presented the stadium to President Offenhauer.

A total of 2,500 persons watched Bowling Green defeat Capital University 12-0 on touchdowns by Wayne Stewart and Dan Clingman. This was the second of 121 games to be played in the stadium. The first was several weeks earlier when Bowling Green defeated Hiram College 12-0 in a continuous drizzle. Wayne Stewart and Glen Mohler scored touchdowns. Dale Herbert, the university's director of athletic facilities and grounds, was the kickoff man that year.

That team was small by today's standards. The average player weighed 170.8 pounds; today the average is 204.5. In 1937 only two players weighed more than 200 pounds — George Madaras and James Zechman. Today more than half of the team weighs 200 pounds or more.

DRAMATIC STAGE

The College Field has provided a stage for many dramas.

In the first game after the dedication, Bowling Green lost to Ohio Northern 9-7 in one of the toughest games Mr. Herbert recalls. "The night before, Bowling Green students painted Ada red—literally—and then they sought and won revenge on the gridiron," he said.

In 1943, most of the team were students in the Navy V-12 program. On one weekend 28 players were shipped out — and there were still three games to play. The night before the Homecoming game with Alma, seven men showed up for practice. The next day eleven men reported, and the game proceeded. One player arrived in the last quarter. Some of the players were not members of the team as Bowling Green defeated Alma 24-0.

"That year we started and ended our season against Ohio Wesleyan," former coach R. H. Whittaker recalls. "Some of the Navy men who started the season playing for Bowling Green were transferred to Wesleyan, and then played against Bowling Green in the final game," he said.

248 GRIDMEN

Three years later, the problems had reversed — in this first post-war year 248 men suited up for football. "We tried to accept all who wanted to play—some uniforms were pretty scraggly," Coach Whittaker said. "That year the Cleveland Browns held their pre-season practice at Bowling Green. One day a freshman, Eddie Kuntz, a good tackle, showed up late for practice — he was confused and had been playing with the Browns."

One of the most exciting games Coach Whittaker remembers was against Kent in 1947. Kent was leading 18-7 with three and one-half minutes remaining in the game. Max Minnich passed from the Bowling Green 10-yard line to the Kent four, where the ball was run in for the Td. A few plays later virtually the same play was repeated. With Robert De Petro kicking the extra points, BG won 21-18.

"In 1945 we had problems with field maintenance, Coach Whittaker said. "The field was not well crowned and water would not run off properly. After the last game, dirt was piled onto the field to help alleviate this problem. The dirt lay there in piles all winter—in mid-April it was still there. In desperation, I threatened to play all our games away from home that fall. The next day maintenance crews were spreading the dirt."

The State of Ohio had two undefeated teams in 1948—John Carroll and Bowling Green. On Nov. 20, the last game of the season, the two teams battled to a 13-13 tie. Bob Schnelker, now a coach for the Green Bay Packers, played for the University that year.

FIRST MAC

In 1956 Bowling Green won its first MAC championship in football. In the first game the Falcons defeated Defiance 73-0 for the highest score in University Stadium. For a time it looked as though Bowling Green would lose out in the MAC. BG was behind 7-0 in the final quarter of the Miami game. Harold Peek blocked a Miami kick, grabbed the ball, and ran 40 yards for the touchdown. The score was 7-7.

On Oct. 29, 1960, Bowling Green played California Polytechnic, a team noted for its good passing. "We were expecting a hard game," former Coach Doyt L. Perry recalls. "But we won 50-6. And, of course, a few hours later the plane carrying them back to California crashed in Toledo, killing many of their team members.

"Visiting football teams usually arrive a few hours before the game, and our students have little or no contact with them. However, the Cal Poly players arrived on Thursday, mixed with our students in the Union, and dated our girls," Perry recalls.

"Bowling Green was one of the few colleges in the nation to play football on the day after President Kennedy's assassination. We felt that this was what the late President would have wanted," Perry said. Bowling Green defeated Xavier 26-15 that day.

SIX COACHES

Six Bowling Green coaches have fielded teams on this athletic area, McCandless, Warren E. Steller, Harry Ockerman, Whittaker, Perry and Robert M. Gibson.

The stadium has provided more than recreation for some — it has been a home for more than 1,000 alumni. In 1946 dormitory rooms were added under the stadium. In an average year, 55 men were housed in this Stadium Club, although once as many as 80 lived there. For the past two years only visiting teams have been quartered there.

Although the last game has been played there, it now provides a place where students stroll and chat. "It seems strange to see people walk on the field," Mr. Whittaker said. For years it was so carefully protected." But as trees are added and walks connecting the old campus with the new campus core run through this area, it will become more accessible to all students as a place of beauty and memory.

KENT STATE PLANS $112 MILLION BUILDING PROGRAM

Kent State University, past the half-century mark, is in full momentum in its drive for excellence among the nation's foremost institutions of higher learning.

Third-largest in the state, Kent serves 17,500 students on its 765-acre rolling campus in the heart of industrial northeastern Ohio. Students in the University's 13 academic centers swell the overall figure to 21,305.

Within the next decade, the campus student body will grow to 24,000 or more. To meet the academic demands of these added thousands, and to carry on expanding research and service programs, trustees have approved a $112 million development program. The first phase already has begun with $26 million in new buildings under way in 1965.

Responsible for Kent's leadership is Dr. Robert I. White, sixth president of the University and a man who has devoted most of his 55 years to educational administration on all levels. He came to campus from the University of Chicago in 1946. He was first dean of the College of Education and then vice president for academic affairs before taking his present post.

Kent's President
DR. ROBERT I. WHITE

Founded in 1910, Kent provides a broad educational program on both the undergraduate and graduate levels. Course work leads to eight bachelor and six master degrees. Study for the doctor of philosophy degree also is available in six areas — chemistry, English, history, education, biological sciences and psychology.

The academic structure includes undergraduate colleges of Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Education and Fine and Professional arts, along with The Graduate School.

Kent's growing faculty numbers 616, with 42 per cent holding the doctor of philosophy degree. This is well above the national average.

A reflection of the student quality can be seen in this year's freshmen class. Four out of 10 were in the upper quarter of their high school graduating class, and 84 per cent were in the upper half.

Have astronauts made pilots old hat?

Sure, the boys who go off the "pads" get the big, bold headlines. But if you want to fly, the big opportunities are still with the aircraft that take off and land on several thousand feet of runway.

Who needs pilots? TAC does. And MAC. And SAC. And ADC.

There's a real future in Air Force flying. In years to come aircraft may fly higher, faster, and further than we dare dream of. But they'll be flying, with men who've had Air Force flight training at the controls. Of course the Air Force also has plenty of jobs for those who won't be flying. As one of the world's largest and most advanced research and development organizations, we have a continuing need for scientists and engineers.

Young college graduates in these fields will find that they'll have the opportunity to do work that is both interesting and important. The fact is, nowhere will you have greater latitude or responsibility right from the start than on the Aerospace Team — the U.S. Air Force!

Interested? The place to find out more is at the office of the Professor of Aerospace Studies, if there is an Air Force ROTC unit on your campus. Ask about the new 2-year AFROTC program available at many colleges and universities. If you prefer, mail the coupon below.

BG STUDENTS EXPLORE "LAST FRONTIER"

Melissa Anderson
University News Service

Bowling Green University may be land-locked, but students are being offered at least five different views of the world's oceans this semester.

The views are topics of oceanography, a course primarily geared to graduate students and seniors majoring in earth science, geology, and geography. It was originated by Lyle R. Fletcher, associate professor of geography because "the earth and atmosphere were being studied thoroughly, but the oceans, which cover seven-eighths of the world's surface, were being ignored."

Oceans, sometimes called "the last frontier," hold as many secrets as outer-space and are almost as difficult to explore, Mr. Fletcher said.

Knowledge of the ocean is of great importance because of the oceans' potential as a solution to possible future shortages of food and water. In addition, the oceans control atmospheric conditions to a great extent and have played a major role in the development of civilization, Mr. Fletcher said.

Oceanography, offered for the first time last year, is the joint project of the geology, geography, and biology departments, since a study of the ocean involves all the physical sciences.

To adequately cover the major aspects of oceanic lore, each department will be responsible for teaching one of three five-week segments of the course.

Mr. Fletcher teaches the first section of the course, concentrating on the geographical positions of the oceans and their effect on atmospheric conditions. The second segment, conducted by Dr. Charles F. Kahle, assistant professor of geology, emphasizes the oceans' chemical content and geological structures.

Marine life is the subject of the third segment, taught by Mrs. Cynthia S. Groat, instructor in biology. To supplement her lectures Mrs. Groat hopes to include observations in the University's marine laboratory. "Unfortunately, the size of the class allows only very limited use of the lab, although it contains many of the organisms to be discussed," she said.

More than 70 students are enrolled in oceanography, and since there are no prerequisites, a variety of majors are represented. The segmented set-up has proved challenging for some students, according to Mr. Fletcher.

Presently the sections are being handled as complete, miniature courses with final examinations given at the end of each period. Mr. Fletcher said he expects a tighter-knit relationship to develop as the course matures.

Lyle R. Fletcher, associate professor of geography, is shown conducting a course in oceanography, currently being offered at Bowling Green State University.

SKETCHING THE HOME FOES

EDITOR'S NOTE—The following sketches on Bowling Green State University's four home opponents, Dayton, Kent State, Marshall and Ohio University, will provide plenty of interesting background material for Falcon fans.

DAYTON—The Flyers haven't had a winning record since the 1957 team came up with a 6-3 record but better things are in the Dayton wind as the 1965 freshman team posted a 4-1 record . . . the 1965 varsity edition compiled a 1-8-1 record and scored only 26 points as compared to 161 for the opponents . . . The Flyers got their one win over Ohio University by a 13-7 margin . . . John McVay is currently moving into his second season . . . In the last eight meetings between the two schools, Dayton has scored only 18 points . . . Bowling Green has racked up six shutouts during that space of time . . . Dayton won the first two games then BG won eight straight . . . Halfbacks Mel Taylor and Billy Mayo, who totaled 457 yards in 1965, could provide the Flyers with plenty of good outside speed this season.

KENT STATE—The Golden Flashes are Bowling Green's oldest football rival as the two schools have met 34 times with BG holding a 19-9-6 series edge . . . Bowling Green has recorded seven straight victories over Kent State and the Golden Flashes have scored only 29 points in those seven contests . . . BG won 41-0 in 1964 but had to settle for a 7-6 decision in 1965 . . . In two seasons, Coach Leo Strang has posted an 8-9-2 slate . . . Last year, the Golden Flashes were 5-4-1 . . . The entire backfield including outstanding fullback Willie Asbury, who rushed for 998 yards in 1965, graduated from last year's first winning team in five years . . . Strang hopes that Don Fitzgerald, who totaled 95 yards in '65, will replace Asbury . . . quarterback could be Jim Foxx, son of the great baseballer . . . In any case, the Golden Flashes need someone to throw the ball to great receiver Bill Blunt, who caught 30 passes for 337 yards in 1965.

MARSHALL—Football is on the upswing at Marshall University . . . Coach Charlie Snyder has a 26-40-3 record at the West Virginia school but in the past three seasons, the Thundering Herd has come up with a 17-12-1 record . . . Marshall opened with four wins last year then had to wait until the season's final game to take a 29-14 decision over Ohio University and finish at 5-5 . . . The top backs with the Thundering Herd are Andy Socha and Mickey Jackson who gained 664 and 704 yards respectively in 1965 . . . Jackson also scored 96 points last year to finish as the fourth highest scorer in the nation . . . A West Virginia boy, Jim Perry, had plenty of say about BG's 20-6 1965 win over Marshall as he kicked two field goals and two extra points for eight markers . . . BG has won 11 straight from the Herd to up the series advantage to 11-1 . . . In the past five years, Marshall has been able to score only 27 points.

OHIO UNIVERSITY—The Bobcats will be improved this year but the question remains just how far Ohio University will be able to bounce back from 1965's 0-10 mark, the poorest in the school's history . . . Fullback Wash Lyons could provide part of the answer to the question . . . He gained 835 yards in 1964 but was held to only 268 yards in 1965 after suffering two broken toes in an accident . . . Including the final game of the 1964 year, Ohio has lost 11 straight . . . to snap that streak during the first three games of the 1966 season, the Bobcats must beat either Purdue, Boston College or Kent State . . . Bill Hess, the dean of the MAC's coaches, now has a 46-30-2 record in eight years at Ohio . . . A total of 23 lettermen are back from last year's team . . . The series between Bowling Green and Ohio now stands at 10-7-1 in BG's favor . . . The Bobcats scored two shutouts in 1963 and 1964 but the Falcons won 17-7 in 1965 . . . Despite the series edge, the Bobcats have outscored the Falcons by a 235-215 margin.

Safeguarding the Athlete

by CARL S. BLYTH

Chairman, NCAA Committee on Competitive Safeguards and Medical Aspects of Sports

THE FULLBACK took the tackle's forearm shiver squarely across the chops and collapsed.

With a startled gasp, the trainer ran out onto the field, fearing the fullback had lost several teeth. But the player jumped to his feet, his grin disclosing that his rubber mouthpiece had cushioned the blow. The trainer turned back, sighing with relief.

The fullback's mouthpiece was intact. So were all his teeth.

That custom-fitted mouthpiece was recommended for use by the NCAA Committee on Competitive Safeguards and Medical Aspects of Sports in 1962. Since then, institutions using the mouthpiece have reported almost no dental injuries.

Perfect health in every athlete is the goal of each coach, athletic administrator and trainer. But all recognize that injuries do occur and it is the responsibility of the medical personnel connected with the team to prevent as many injuries as possible. Preventive measures are also a function of the NCAA Committee on Competitive Safeguards and Medical Aspects of Sports.

The NCAA was one of the first organizations to appoint a professionally-trained group to devote itself entirely to the study of safety and accident prevention in athletics. This Committee is composed of trainers, physicians, physiologists, coaches and athletic administrators devoted to the study of athletic medicine.

It has the responsibility of gathering and classifying all important information in regard to the safety and medical aspects of sports. It keeps all NCAA-member institutions informed of its findings and makes available to all NCAA rules and tournament committees its recommendations for possible incorporation into the official collegiate playing rules of the sport involved.

A recent recommendation by the Committee resulted in a 1965 football rules change. "The use of the head and face (with a mask) to strike a blow constitutes a personal foul," the Committee suggested. "In addition, the practice of coaches teaching techniques of blocking and tackling using the head and face as the contact point is dangerous and should be curtailed."

The NCAA Football Rules Committee agreed. Rule 9, Section 1, Article 2j now reads: "No player shall deliberately and maliciously use his helmet or head to unnecessarily butt or ram an opponent." It costs the offending team 15 yards and flagrant violators are disqualified.

Recommendations by the Committee from two research studies it conducts, the Annual College Football Injury Survey and the Annual Football Fatality Survey, also have led to changes over the years in football rules as well as modification in playing fields and equipment.

The latest Football Fatality Survey reports that the incidence of direct fatal injuries is less than two participants per 100,000 players. It also discloses that approximately one-third of all football fatalities are not directly related to football. In general, the indirect fatalities result from heart and circulatory accidents and infections.

An interesting finding in the 1965 Football Fatality Survey was that player equipment was satisfactory and did not contribute to the fatality. Although the Committee believes that those concerned with the health of the athletes should continue the search for improved and safer equipment, it also is appreciative of the manufacturers' and coaches' roles in providing the best equipment for all competing athletes.

The Committee previously found that too many institutions were providing only one physical examination (at the beginning of the freshman year) for the college athlete. The Committee strongly recommended yearly physical and health examinations for all athletes. It also suggested that a physician give written approval before a player can return to practice and competition after injury.

Hot weather has been a problem for many schools at the beginning of fall practice. But a seven-point "hot weather hints" program was recommended by the Committee and has been instrumental in halting heat exhaustion.

The Committee has studied and discussed the practice of crash dieting, particularly in the sport of wrestling. It has severely criticized this unnatural means of losing weight.

A joint commission was founded in 1965 for the purpose of researching, studying and pooling resources in the specialty of athletic medicine. Co-operating organizations are the American College Health Association, National Athletic Trainers Association, National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations and the NCAA. It is anticipated that this joint commission will provide even greater impetus toward the prevention of athletic injuries.

ATO VICTORY BELL BECOMES BG TRADITION

Forty-eight games is a long streak but this is the exact number of Bowling Green State University football contests Alpha Tau Omega's Victory Bell, "Old Alpha," has attended.

Now this may not seem like much until you look at the records and see where the bell has gone these past five years.

For example, in 1961, the Falcons played in the Mercy Bowl in Los Angeles, California, and the bell was there. The same was true when Bowling Green traveled to Texas in 1962 to play West Texas State and then returned in 1964 and 1965 to play against North Texas State and face West Texas again. This year "Old Alpha" was in Tampa, Florida for the opening game.

"Old Alpha" has been rung by ATO members following every Falcon touchdown and conversion since the opening game of the 1961 season. The bell has had a lot of tolling to do as BG has compiled a 39-8-1 record during this period of time and scored almost 1000 points. Over this period of time the bell has traveled 20,500 miles. The longest trip was 2,500 miles to the Mercy Bowl in Los Angeles.

The bell is taken to games by a trailer pulled behind a car. Pulling the bell is no small task as it weighs 1,260 pounds. The 1960 ATO pledge class had a special trailer built to support the bell.

Funds for taking "Old Alpha" to all the away games are donated by various sources. For the long trips, most of the necessary funds have come from local merchants. For all MAC games, the fraternity pays expenses. This year's bell chairman, Michael Snyder, estimates that travel costs and repair will run the fraternity about $500.

Time after time during and since his inauguration, Bowling Green's President Jerome has stated that the school needs more traditions. The ATO's victory bell is doing its part.

MEET THE FALCONS

1. JERRY HUNTER (73)—6-1, 225—Despite the fact that Hunter was injured during most of the 1965 season, he still saw plenty of action as one of Bowling Green's front-line tackles. Pro scouts are eyeing Hunter for a guard position because of his fine agility, speed and movement plus size but with the 1966 Falcons he will be stationed at tackle. Hunter, an aggressive blocker and good pass protector, wasn't bothered by the shoulder injury during spring drills and is now expected to have a fine season. Playing for the Mansfield Madison Rams, Hunter was a fine athlete as he lettered in three sports, football, basketball and baseball. He played both tackle and end for former Falcon John Valentine. With the Rams' football squad, Hunter was an All-League choice and an alternate on the Northern All-Star team.

2. BRUCE BURDICK (65)—6-1, 220—For the past two seasons, Burdick has been a starting guard for the Falcons while earning two letters. He is another professional prospect with his fine intelligence, size and speed. Burdick teams with Jack Sohn and Heath Wingate to give Bowling Green a very experienced interior line. Physically, Burdick is one of the strongest players on the team. This past spring, Burdick played football and also lettered with the lacrosse team as a defense man. In high school, playing with the Solon Comets, Burdick was a fullback and tackle. He captained the Comets and was also named to the All-League squad. Burdick also lettered at Solon as a heavy-weight wrestler and trackster. He is enrolled in the college of business administration at Bowling Green.

3. DICK WAGONER (25)—6-2, 200—Wagoner has had a fine career with the Falcons. He has been one of Bowling Green's starting defensive backs for the past two years and has earned two letters. These two years of experience make him a hands down choice for a first string defensive backfield spot in 1966. However, if the offense needs some punch, he could step in there. Wagoner, the former third team All-State selection from Toledo Rogers High School, runs with good balance and authority. He carried the ball five times last season and gained 15 yards. He also brought three kickoffs back 63 yards. In his first two seasons, Wagoner intercepted four passes for 30 yards. If needed, Wagoner can also handle Bowling Green's kickoff and field goal work. At Rogers, Wagoner was an All-League choice and earned a total of seven letters with the Rams.

4. JACK SOHN (68)—6-0, 210—Number 68 has been a familiar sight to Bowling Green fans for the past two years. Sohn broke into the Falcons starting lineup at the guard position during the 1964 campaign and is now into his third straight year as a starter. Sohn could well be one of the finest guards in the Mid-American Conference this season. Last year, he did a good job for the Falcons and progressed rapidly as the season moved along. He is rated as a good trapper and blocker who makes very few mistakes. Sohn has come a long way since the 1964 season when he replaced the injured Mel Foels in the Falcons' starting lineup. At Napoleon High School, he won All-Conference honors for two years as a fullback. He also co-captained the Wildcats. Sohn is majoring in health and physical education.

5. JOE SIESEL (52)—6-0, 230—On the offensive depth chart, you will find that Siesel is listed as a center but he will probably never play that position for the Falcons. Siesel's talent rests with the defensive platoon. For the past two seasons, he has been one of the Falcons starting linebackers and has turned in a fine job. Last year, he earned honorable mention All-Conference honors at that position. Offensively, he will serve as a backup man for All-MAC choice Heath Wingate. Siesel has proven he is big, strong, agile and loves to hit. With the Bellevue High School Redmen, Siesel lettered for three years while earning All-League and All-State honors. He starred at guard for the Redmen. In 1964, Siesel intercepted two passes for the Falcons and returned them six yards. Siesel is a health and physical education major.

BOWLING GREEN'S SOCCER SQUAD IMPROVES RAPIDLY

Bowling Green State University's soccer team moved into its second full season of intercollegiate competition with 13 lettermen returning from last year's team that ended up with a 2-4-2 record.

Seven top sophomores, coming up from last year's unbeaten freshman squad, also figure high in Coach Mickey Cochrane's 1966 plans.

The Falcons are looking forward to a much stronger offensive unit this season. Last year, the Falcons averaged only 1.9 goals per game. Three sophomores, Guenter Herold, Pete Farrell and Dean Forsberg, the top scorers on the frosh squad, and the return of Terry Butwid, the varsity's leading scorer last season, should give the team some good offensive punch.

Butwid netted five goals for Bowling Green last season while Herold topped the freshman, who scored a total of 33 goals in five games, with 11. Farrell and Forsberg each added six goals to the yearlings' attack.

This season, the Falcons have come up with a better offensive punch, averaging 2.8 goals a game. Herold has tallied six of Bowling Green's 11 goals while Forsberg has two. Farrell, Doug Lorenzen and Orest Wolyneec all have one apiece.

Despite the fact that the Falcons have been putting through more goals, they haven't been able to do much about improving last year's record. After the first four games, Bowling Green was sporting a 1-3 mark.

"We are trying to improve last year's record and get a winning mark this season," Cochrane said. However, after last year's first four matches, the Falcons also had a 1-3 record but then came back with a win and tie in their last four meetings.

On the offensive side, Lorenzen has been starting at outside left with Wolyneec, Herold, Farrell and Dick Green holding the other positions on the line.

Steve Meyer, Butwid, John Feasel and Gordon Beecher are the halfbacks with Dave Johnson, Bob Bartels, Forsberg and Bob Hall on defense.

For the 1966 season, the Falcons play a 10-game schedule that includes two new opponents, Ohio Wesleyan and Akron. Dayton, Toledo, Cedarville, Kent State and Wooster will furnish the home opposition for the Falcons.

MESSAGE TO ALUMNI:

To the hundreds of alumni on campus for Homecoming, we extend a most sincere welcome. Homecoming is always the most exciting time of the year, for it brings so many of the university's sons and daughters back home. This is truly your campus, and we hope you are enjoying your visit.

Bowling Green has undoubtedly changed since your days on campus. Many new and exciting buildings dot the campus. New and challenging academic programs have been developed making your university one of America's finest. You can be exceedingly proud of your alma mater.

Two important aspects of Bowling Green have never changed—friendliness and a concern for the best in education! As alumni, you play a major role in both areas. You are important to Bowling Green . . . we are pleased and proud to have you here today!
